

Academic Integrity: A Faculty & Student Conduct Primer

Faculty options for addressing violations in the classroom and beyond

BOR R09.02.020 A: Cheating, Plagiarism, Other Forms of Academic Dishonesty

Academic dishonesty applies to examinations, assignments, laboratory reports, fieldwork, practicums, creative projects, or other academic activities. Examples include, but are not limited to:

1. Presenting as their own the ideas or works of others without proper citation of sources;
2. Utilizing devices not authorized by the faculty member;
3. Using sources (including but not limited to text, images, computer code, and audio/video files) not authorized by the faculty member;
4. Providing assistance without the faculty member's permission to another student, or receiving assistance not authorized by the faculty member from anyone (with or without their knowledge);
5. Submitting work done for academic credit in previous classes, without the knowledge and advance permission of the current faculty member;
6. Acting as a substitute or utilizing a substitute;
7. Deceiving faculty members or other representatives of the university to affect a grade or to gain admission to a program or course;
8. Fabricating or misrepresenting data;
9. Possessing, buying, selling, obtaining, or using a copy of any material intended to be used as an instrument of assessment in advance of its administration;
10. Altering grade records of their own or another student's work;
11. Offering a monetary payment or other remuneration in exchange for a grade; or
12. Violating the ethical guidelines or professional standards of a given program.
